

JENNY TOLMAN BIO

Soft-spoken in conversation, 21-year-old Jenny Tolman is bold and courageous behind a guitar, able to make sense of life's challenges by putting them under a verbal microscope. Her voice mixes the smokiness of Shelby Lynne with the accessibility of your next-door neighbor. Her self-written stories ring true for just about anyone who hears them. With honest lyrics & Old Sol melodies, her vulnerable writing, inspired by real-world issues, is well beyond her age. After hearing her sing at a local writer's round, Jenny was approached by Grammy nominated producer of Brandy Clark's 12 Stories, Dave Brainard. She is now working with Brainard on her first full-length album with music that combines everything you've heard before with nothing you've heard before.
